Forum on AIDS: Dr. Martha Katz will speak tonight on Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, the disease that has struck the gay population of New York and other large cities. Katz works at Columbia Health Services and has researched the AIDS epidemic over the past year. Students, faculty and friends are encouraged to participate in this open discussion of the disease which has claimed over 1300 victims since 1980. The forum will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Gay Students' Lounge.
