Condom Awareness Week at Columbia has been organized and presented by the Office of Health Education of the University Health Service, the Columbia Gay Health Advocacy Project, and the Columbia AIDS Peer Educators.

The Office of Health Education of the University Health Service is the home of the Women's Health Advocate, Dr. Whoopie's Assistants (Peer Sexuality Educators), Pregnancy Options Counselors, and the Against Violence Advocates. Call 854-5453 for more information.

Founded in 1985, the Columbia Gay Health Advocacy Project provides the Columbia community with AIDS counseling and education, anonymous HIV antibody testing, and a medical clinic and support group for HIV-infected students. Call 854-2878 for information or an appointment with a Gay Health Advocate.

The Columbia AIDS Peer Educators are a group of Barnard and Columbia undergraduates trained to educate students through facilitating discussions and implementing projects dealing with various aspects of AIDS. Call 854-5113 for more information.
