

COLUMBIA SPECTATOR ARCHIVE

Columbia Daily Spectator, Volume CXIX, Number 61, 24 April 1995 — For the record [ARTICLE]

For the record

“When people call the Quilt ‘kitsch,’ they are really saying something about themselves, that they don’t want to face the messy, inadequate, painful grief that it brings.”

—Village Voice reporter Mark Schoofs at an AIDS Quilt ceremony Friday. See story, page 1.